

Superiors Win Alberta Senior Hockey Championship

Canadians First Year in Senior Ranks Brings Credit to Coleman in Most Thrilling Season Since 1925

Six years ago Coleman Canadians organized with a few home players graduated from the juniors. In 1935 they stacked up against the famous Edmonton Superiors, a finished organization with veteran players and years of fast company hockey experience. Success last year in winning the western intermediate championship prompted them to enter the senior ranks this season, and though defeated in the finals, they have earned the applause of sport-loving people in the Pass towns, and throughout the province.

The games, so fully reported throughout the province by radio and press, provided plenty of entertainment and thrills. To go over them again would be stale news. Admiration must be accorded a group of players employed in the local mines who have carried the banner of amateur hockey into the provincial finals, who have played against teams of longer experience and who have shown that they possess the spirit of true sportsmanship.

"One day a hero—next day a ham" might be the care-free expression of the joker—the glory of success is short-lived. But there is a deeper purpose in these amateur championship contests. The ambition to win has carried Coleman from what was termed a scrub team six years ago to compete with the best the capital city could place on the ice. Their ambition has improved the standard of young players and encouraged others to emulate their example.

"The harder you fall, the higher you'll bounce, Be proud of your blackened eye; It isn't the fact you're licked that counts, But how did you fight—and why?" All will agree that Coleman fought gamely and will give them credit for reaching the finals. Jack Kwasney and his team it is anticipated will be in the spot-light again next season.

Total goals scored—Superiors 19; Coleman 7.

LOOKING BACKWARD

Coleman's hockey team was re-organized in 1928, when Frank Graham, sr., and H. T. Halliwell collected a few dollars here and there and financed the start of the season by selling season tickets to obtain sufficient money to buy equipment. That season H. T. was president and Percy Locke was secretary. Starting with a dollar in the treasury, the season finished up with a surplus, and it is recalled that on a trip to Medicine Hat the club was so short of funds that every player dug up his fare and was later reimbursed from the share of the Medicine Hat game. Players that season were: Colgross, goal; Stevulak and Gate, defence; Jim Fraser, Sadlisk, Kubin, forwards; Clary Chapman, Liya, subs. Coleman played the first game of the season at Hillcrest on December 17, 1928, in an open-air rink, which was refereed by George Cruickshank, present present provincial Legislative member, who was then president of the Alberta Amateur Hockey Association.

Hillcrest, Bellevue, Blairmore and Coleman organized an intermediate league. Coleman won four games in succession and in the final league schedule game defeated Blairmore, the previous intermediate champions for the province.

Since then the club has steadily improved in playing strength, and under the management of Jack Kwasney, with Frank G. Creegan as president and Robert Pattinson as secretary, and a loyal executive, the last two or three seasons have seen the Canadians step right along into fast company bringing credit to themselves and Coleman. Moreover, the club has financed itself solely from gate receipts since its re-organization.

A provincial convention of Alberta Social Credit League it is reported will be held in April.

COLEMAN TIGERS VICTORY OF TEN YEARS AGO

The following is from The Journal of March 26, 1925, commenting on the famous game in which the Tigers played Port Arthur in Winnipeg:

"Although the local Tigers were beaten out of the finals by two goals, they have established what is undoubtedly a record in hockey annals in that they were forced to enter the Allan cup play-downs minus their regular goalkeeper and all of their subs. We do not recall ever hearing of a hockey team since the advent of six-man hockey going into the play-offs with but six men. Nevertheless, notwithstanding this severe handicap the Tigers won four straight games and came within an ace of landing in the finals, a step ahead of any senior amateur hockey team from this province for many a long year."

EARN A DOLLAR

Coleman schools have seen hundreds of young people pass on to the other world, and some have achieved success worthy of record. In order to encourage school pupils to delve a little into the past, and at the same time to write something of interest for The Journal, the best story each week will be published and the writer given one dollar. Try your skill at writing; it will be good exercise and will prove interesting to young and old. Brief, concise stories are preferred, typewritten or clearly written so that re-writing will not be necessary.

Coleman Branch No. 5

Members of the Canadian Legion, "Boys of the Old Brigade," will celebrate the anniversary of Vimy Ridge by holding a banquet on April 9.

A meeting of the ladies is to be held on Sunday to organize an auxiliary of the Canadian Legion.

Indignant M.O.: "Don't call me doctor! You fellows have been soldiering long enough to know that an official must be addressed by his military title. You know there are no 'doctors' in the C.E.F." Voice from rear rank of sick: "You're damn right we do!"—The Legionary.

LOCAL AND GENERAL

"I like the paper and news about the town and my old friends," writes Mrs. Scott from Toronto, in renewing her subscription to The Journal. She also states that Mr. Scott (whom Coleman people will remember as master mechanic at International mine) is slowly improving after a serious illness, and is able to be up a little every day. Old friends here trust he will soon be completely restored to health, and The Journal is pleased to pass along the news of these old-time residents of Coleman.

Mrs. Foster and family, former residents of Coleman, have moved back to town after living in Bellevue for several years.

All leaders in their class

Man's Priceless Possessions

To keep one's head in times of emergency and crisis, remain cool, refrain from excess emotionalism, hysteria and panic, is a sign of strength, and men and women who display these characteristics prove to be the real leaders of their fellow citizens. That leadership may be demonstrated without uttering a word or doing anything spectacular, but merely by being unafraid, natural and unconcerned.

This truth was impressed upon us the other day by an incident reported in the daily press in connection with a fire which broke out on a railway car between Moose Jaw and Regina. There was a rush of frightened passengers to the rear door. One man urged calmness and an orderly exit, but little heed was paid to him. But another passenger remained quietly in his seat, looking with unconcern out of the car window. His attitude impressed others with the fact that there was little danger and no need for undue alarm. People quieted down and a near panic was averted.

The world is passing through the stress and emergency of an unprecedented economic depression. It is a time to try the calibre of men and nations. Under prevailing conditions the striking of a small spark might easily cause an explosion, and a small flame spread into a great conflagration. There are individuals in all countries striving to take advantage of the present situation to stir up trouble. They are playing on the emotions of their fellow citizens, emotions which have been stirred to the depths by the personal problems, difficulties, sufferings and loss with which they have been and still are confronted. Times are ripe for the demagogue and the stirrer up of strife to ply their trade, reckless of what the final outcome might be.

But the strong men and women of the world, those who can be depended upon in times of emergency, are proving to be the real leaders in most countries. Were it not so almost universal chaos would by now be the lot of people everywhere. In this time of testing, the Canadian people have demonstrated their sanity and their strength. Notwithstanding all our problems and difficulties, and these are in no sense or degree minimized, the people of Canada, taken as a whole, have kept their heads, remained cool, and avoided panic attack.

In some countries people have lost confidence in themselves and so given way to panic and become victims of emotionalism, that they have sacrificed personal rights and liberties almost overnight which it had taken generations of struggle by their forefathers to achieve for them. Thoughtlessly, in a spirit of panic, they surrendered some of the great fundamentals of life and living because they allowed others to unduly sway their emotions and neglected to keep cool and think for themselves rather than allow others to think and act for them.

Because this is so, the fands of the clock of progress have been turned back in such countries, and their future is dark and discouraging compared with those other nations where the people, and their leaders, have kept their feet firmly planted on the ground and their heads cool and minds clear.

To-day in Canada and throughout the British Empire all people still enjoy that great safeguard of their liberties which is represented by a free and uncensored press and the utmost freedom in expression. Every man and woman, no matter what his or her station in life, is absolutely free to express opinions, publicly or privately, in relation to any and all matters of public policy. They are just as free to criticize and condemn as they are to applaud and praise. If they are dissatisfied and opposed to those presently in positions of authority, they are free to express their dissatisfaction and to organize to give force to their opposition.

No government agent sits in any newspaper office in Canada, no file of censorship orders lies on any editor's desk which must be obeyed. The radio, the pulpit, the public platform, is just as free to opponents of present governmental policies as they are to supporters of those policies. This is not so in many of the countries of the world. Hundreds of millions of people are now denied free expression of their views, opposition to the powers-that-be is prohibited, even the news of the day is censored, suppressed altogether, or colored to suit the views and policies of the prevailing dictator.

The essential fact for all Canadians to ever keep in mind is that, even if a so-called economic security could be obtained by them through these autocratic methods, the price to be paid is altogether too great. A slave may enjoy security provided by his master, but the fact remains he is a slave and nothing more, and what Canadian citizen desires to become a slave?

What the whole world is in danger of losing, unless the very people who have most to lose keep their heads, are the very fundamentals of civilization, namely, the liberties of the individual citizen. Once those personal liberties are lost, and might rather than right occupies the place of power and authority, it will be the great masses of the people, deprived of their democratic institutions and liberties, who will be the sufferers. Once lost, the struggle to regain these priceless liberties will have to be re-commenced, because man was born to be free. The battle to restore civilization, liberty and equality will again have to be waged.

Liberty, freedom, personal rights are priceless possessions. They should never be surrendered for anything else, no matter how attractively that something else may be dressed up and presented. Nothing else, not everything else, can repay man for the loss of freedom of expression and liberty of action.

New War On Grasshoppers

Menace Serious As Last Year
Alberta Farmers Told
Just as relentless a war against grasshoppers will have to be waged this summer and fall as last year by Alberta farmers or tremendous financial loss will result, Lieut.-Col. E. H. Strickland, professor of entomology at the University of Alberta, as was a visitor in Calgary, stated.

It is known that millions of grasshoppers will be massed ready for action as soon as their feeding season begins, but the counter offensive is more highly organized than ever before, due to sad experience in the past, resulting in a greater appreciation by farmers of the seriousness of the menace.

Col. Strickland stated that the present outlook in regard to the grasshopper menace was as serious as it was this time last year. In 1934, he said, very considerable damage was done by the insects, but the damage was inconsiderable when compared with the grasshopper plague between 1919 and 1922, when crops on farms everywhere in the province were wiped out.

Efforts are still being carried on to discover new methods to fight grasshoppers, according to Col. Strickland, but, so far, the most practical and efficient method has been the systematic scattering of poison bait.

A BARBER WHO HAD RHEUMATISM

Tells How He Carried On

A barber who had been "a martyr to rheumatism" writes:

"I have been a martyr to rheumatism for some ten years. For five years I was so affected that it was with the greatest difficulty that I was able to carry on my business. I may say I am a barber by trade. After having tried numerous remedies, I was finally advised to try Kruschen. I am pleased to say that after having used Kruschen for some twelve months, I am now free from aches and pains that I have been for some ten years. In fact, I consider I am rid of rheumatism, thanks to Kruschen Salts."—W. M.

Two of the ingredients of Kruschen Salts are the most effective solvents of uric acid known to medical science. They swiftly dull the sharp edges of the painful crystals, then convert them into a harmless solution. Other ingredients of these Salts have a stimulating effect upon the kidneys, and assist them to expel the dissolved uric acid readily through the natural channels.

Shut Out From World

Four Nuns Working Among Primitive Tribes Of Papua

The four lone nuns of the world have passed through Port Moresby, Papua, on their way to what many must regard as a living grave.

They are nuns of the Carmelite Order. They have gone to spend the rest of their lives in the silence and seclusion of a little convent built specially for them some 30 miles inland.

There these four white women, who have dedicated themselves to a life of prayer and work among the primitive tribes of Papua, will live shut off from the rest of the world. They will occupy separate cells, and meet each other only in their little chapel for liturgical services.

By the rules of their Order, they must eat no meat, wear no stockings and shoes, sleep on straw, not look into a mirror, and have no correspondence.

Day Of Thanksgiving

Special Services Requested In All Canadian Churches

The Canada Gazette carried a proclamation requesting special thanksgiving services in all Canadian churches May 5 and setting aside May 6, the 26th anniversary of King George's accession, as a day of general thanksgiving and rejoicing on the occasion of our silver jubilee.

The thanksgiving services on the Sunday before jubilee day were described as giving an opportunity for "appropriate expression of gratitude to Almighty God for the manifold bounties and great mercies which our loving subjects, the people of Canada, have enjoyed during our reign."

Canadian cattle to the number of 13,992 head in 27 shipments were exported direct to Glasgow during the year 1934, as compared with 11,238 in 1933 and 4,016 in 1932. The quality was also greatly improved.

The more people become civilized, the more they increase their capacity for suffering.

WHAT DOES YOUR HANDWRITING REVEAL?

By LAWRENCE HIBBERT
(Grapho-Analyst)
(All Rights Reserved)

(Editor's Note: Marked interest is being shown in these articles, and letters are coming in in increasing numbers. Have you had your handwriting analysed? Have you any problem in which this well-known writer could help you? See his interesting article following this week's interesting article.)

A surprisingly large number of readers have written in, from time to time, asking for advice regarding friends with whom they are in correspondence clubs. Sometimes the object is merely to have interesting correspondents, and there is really no particular harm in this.

The real danger arises when the object is more intimate, when, in fact, the aim is marriage. The case in the United States in which a man became acquainted with a number of ladies through correspondence club, and murdered them for their money must be still fresh in the memory of many readers. However, it is not every case that reaches this horrible pitch, by any means.

There are many instances, however, where a man, who is a miser, and who is very anxious to marry the money, only to find that their impressions are not correct, and they have lived to rue their decision.

This article is especially aroused by a letter I have just received. It is from a lady reader in the East. She asks me about a man, living in the United States, who she thinks I think of him. She is a widow, 38 years of age, with two pretty children, and very cordially open to matrimony. The man, in the other hand, says he is 49, is still married, but is separated from his wife, because he says, she made his life miserable, and was interested in other men.

He is very anxious to marry the money, and will, he says, obtain a divorce, if she decides to marry him. Now I have seen letters that he has written, and they reveal not that he is selfish and self-centred, but also has a violent temper. I cannot imagine anyone living with him having any happiness, because his temper is such that he will break out into a frequent fury. There is very little that could be worse than this.

This man is avaricious. He knows this, and he has money, and he would like nothing better than to get possession of some of it. And there is still another angle to the case. He is a very sensitive, nervous, and certainly, he is not the type of man for my correspondent.

They became acquainted through a correspondence club. And this shows up one of the very real dangers of these clubs. They are usually a married man, who first posed as a single man, until he thought he could appeal for sympathy to this widow.

I am not going to lay it down as an axiom for my readers to do with correspondence clubs. That would be inviting the innocent as well as the guilty. For there are many who are living in remote parts of the country, and in many cases too retiring to come to the clubs. There are many who find some similarly lonely soul elsewhere in the country, and conduct a correspondence that brings some response to both lives. On top times, happy marriages result from these mail acquaintanceships. But we must be taken by would-be correspondents. The dangers should be borne in mind.

And it is well to single out girls that I address this word of warning. Women who have been married and become widows, are, very often, better versed in life's intricacies, and have at least that much advantage.

My advice to the widow is to have nothing to do with her married correspondent. I do not trust him, and believe that his will bring nothing but unhappiness to my correspondent if any marriage is to result.

One other word in regard to these correspondence acquaintanceships. Beware of any man who appeals for money. It may seem surprising that such a warning is necessary. And yet I have known of women who have sent money following the interchange of letters through one of these clubs, and have lost it.

The author will analyse your handwriting for you, and he will tell you what your correspondence reveals like, and what your friends. Send specimens of the writing you wish to be analysed, stated birthdate in each case, and enclose 10c for each specimen. Send with a 3c stamped, addressed envelope, to Lawrence Hibbert, care of Winnipeg Newspaper Union, 175 McDermott Ave., Winnipeg, Man. All letters are confidential. Replies will be sent as quickly as possible, but some delay is unavoidable, owing to the large number of letters that are coming in.

A Pocket Submarine

Small Underwater Craft Valuable Addition To British Fleet

Britain's latest "pocket submarine," now being tested in the Channel, is showing remarkable qualities of seaworthiness, quick diving and deadliness in attack.

The submarine, the H.M.S. Shark, is a mere pigmy compared with the big overseas type of 1,500 tons which preceded her. She is barely 200 feet long, 24 feet broad, with a displacement of 150 tons. Yet she can travel "astid" over 2,000 miles on the surface or, at full power, travel at nearly 18 miles per hour underwater.

For rapid diving she is unequalled by any other submarine. She can perform a crash dive in 30 seconds.

In the bows are mounted six tubes for discharging the powerful 21-inch torpedo, a salvo of which would disperse any battleship fleet. On deck two small quick-firing guns are mounted for use against hostile aircraft or light surface patrol.

Eleven of these powerful and nimble little submarines are to be built. They are intended chiefly for coast defence, but would be quite capable of undertaking operations farther afield if necessary. They have the additional advantage of being comparatively cheap, costing only about £50,000 each.

GARDENING

Gordon L. Smith

Sweet Peas

Sweet Peas must be planted just as soon as it is possible to get a start in the garden. They usually are one or two days in early April when it is possible to work up the soil. They are the same part of the garden, and this is the time and place for these flowers. They have been used in a climate where the summer nights are inclined to be cool. They must have extra water during dry weather. It is advisable to sow in a trench and support on brush, strings or poultry netting. The trench should be dug a foot deep and in the warm or four inches of well rotted leaves, or manure. This, in addition to plant food provides open material in which a deep root system can be developed. On top will be three inches of fine garden soil and place in this seed, about two inches apart and the same depth. Gradually the spring and summer rains will fill in the remainder of the trench, ensuring stout stems and abundant deep roots. If the flowers are picked daily, they will bloom from early July until frost.

Where many plants are wanted, the best arrangement for starting is to sow in a hot bed, though a cold frame where only a few plants are required, a shallow box in a sunny window will be sufficient. A hot bed simply consists of a wooden frame about 18 inches high, which contains two inches of manure, or locally, a layer of fresh, slightly straw, horse manure. In an open place and facing south, dig a pit of the same dimensions as the window frame and about a foot deep. Into this put the manure. (If frost prevents digging, simply pile on top of the ground.) When well pressed down, the layer of manure should be about 18 inches thick. It is held in place by the sides of the pit and the frame. On top is placed two inches of light garden soil, preferably mixed with a little sand. The manure is fitted snugly into place on top and should be about 15 inches above the soil at the back of the manure. Here they are allowed to rain to run off and also to catch the full rays of the sun. At first the soil will heat rapidly, but in about three days it will have cooled to around 80 degrees which is the proper temperature. The seed is planted in rows about two inches apart, and the bed watered frequently. On warm days it will be necessary to ventilate by raising the window frame an inch or so. When the second set of leaves develop, thin. The seedlings are transplanted to a cold frame, which is about the same as a hot bed only without the heating manure, about three weeks before the plants are to be set out in their permanent quarters. No heating material is needed in the house, otherwise the procedure is practically the same. Boxes about three inches deep are filled with a mixture of sand and light soil and placed in a bright window, where, preferably, there is a double glass, to prevent cold draughts at night.

Little Journeys In Science

PROTEINS

(By Gordon H. Guest, M.A.)

Proteins are very complex substances which always contain the element nitrogen. Proteolipin cannot be formed without proteins, and thus we see that life itself is dependent upon them. The word protein comes from a Greek word meaning "to take the first place," because the importance of this group of substance was early recognized.

Proteins occur in all living matter and are present in all natural food stuffs. Due to the fact that they are the chief constituents of living animal tissues, they are most plentiful in animal foods, such as meat, eggs and fish.

Scientists have found proteins to be the most complicated substances ever studied. They have found that all proteins are made of the same elements, nitrogen, oxygen and sulphur, while some also contain phosphorus. Small quantities of other elements are found in certain proteins.

Proteins are used by the body for building tissue, and also for producing energy. For providing the material for growth in children, and for repairing waste tissue in adults, they cannot be replaced by any other animal tissues, they are decomposed into animal foods, such as meat, milk and eggs are more valuable for these purposes than the proteins in vegetables. Milk is a valuable source of protein and is especially good for children.

Science has shown that there are thousands of different kinds of proteins varying in structure and quality. During the process of digestion, the proteins are decomposed into simpler substances, known as amino acids. These are absorbed and recombined in new proportions, forming other proteins which have different properties than those which were taken into the stomach. Thus the proteins in food are different than those actually used by the body.

Stocktaking at the London Zoo has been completed, and the total value of all the animals, birds, and fish is about £40,000. First there is Molina and Mok, the young gorillas. Molina and Mok are worth about £800 each. Tigers have an easy lead over lions in cash value. A tiger is valued at £80 and a lion a little less. Flamingoes are £12 10s. The three Indian rhinos deposited by the King, are the most valuable that the society possesses, and are worth £1,000 each. They come from Nepal and are very rare.

A Call To Youth To Assist In Solving Present Day Difficulties

Ottawa.—A call to youth to join in solving present-day difficulties by correcting the existing system in a practical way, step by step, was made by Hon. H. H. Stevens in an address here Sunday night.

The former trade and commerce minister proposed as "practical" steps: Establishment of a federal, trade and industry commission; a reconstruction scheme involving housing, slum clearance and restoration of existing buildings; re-forestation scheme.

"Here is the challenge to youth—throw the full weight of your energies and influence in with those who are currently and unselfishly striving to overcome the difficulties and to right the wrongs of the present," he said. Mr. Stevens spoke under the auspices of the Federation of Youth over a coast-to-coast network of the Canadian radio commission.

He did not agree with the argument the only corrective was to destroy the present system. "My own view is that correction of the evils of the system will be brought about in much the same way as the system itself grew—that is, step by step, and by frankly admitting our faults and correcting them, one by one," he declared.

Mr. Stevens gave illustrations. Under the company laws "grave abuses" had been permitted to develop, such as over-capitalization, watered stock and loose and deceptive statements in the promotion of it, and they can be dealt with at this session of parliament if companies "now these abuses can be corrected," he said. All that was required was the application of common-sense amendments to existing laws.

"Then again take many of the abuses disclosed in the price spreads and mass buying inquiry," Mr. Stevens went on.

"Many of these can be eliminated by a fearless and vigorous enforcement of existing laws, with certain adjustments or amendments to those laws to make them more effective."

A "federal trade and industry commission" charged with the responsibility of administering all laws pertaining to commerce and industry should be erected, he stated. "Such a commission would act as a referee of disputes between competitors, as well as between industry and the public, in much the same way as the railway board has acted as a referee between the public utilities companies and the public."

A difficulty of to-day was that "slowly but very definitely the wealth of the country has been gradually brought under the control of a small number of corporations and individuals." It was his firm opinion there was no "conceivable policy" among these great leaders of finance and industry that had for its object the common interest.

Prepare Voters' Lists

No Decision Has Been Reached About The Revision

Ottawa.—Secretary of State C. C. Hahn told the House of Commons that no decision had been made about the revision of the election lists which ordinarily would be started April 15.

There had been some discussion, he said, of allowing the present lists, now being printed, to stand without revision but the government had made no decision.

Questioned by Liberal leader Mackenzie King, the state secretary said some 4,200,000 names on the election lists had been put in type by the government printing bureau and the rest would be ready by April 1. There are about 5,800,000 names on the lists.

Forced To Change Route

Imperial Airways Service Disturbed By Civil War In Greece

London.—Civil war in Greece has forced Imperial Airways to alter the route of its Empire service to and from Africa, India, Singapore and Australia.

Sidelining Greece because of that government's temporary ban on the movement of commercial planes, the British ships, through the co-operation of the Italian government, will be routed via Malta, Benghazi, Tobruk and Alexandria.

Chile is to raise a fund to combat fruit diseases and pests.

Sliding Scale Plan For Unemployment Insurance Rejected By House

Ottawa.—An attempt to incorporate a sliding scale of premiums in the government's unemployment insurance scheme failed in the House of Commons. It would apply to men who had steady work over a period of years and would draw no benefits from the fund.

Sir George Perley, who took over the bill when Premier R. B. Bennett had a setback and returned to his sick bed, said he could not accept the principle of graduated premiums suggested by Joseph Bradette (Lib., North Transvaal) and approved by E. J. Garland (C.F.A., Bow River).

Although the opposition lost one decision, it gained a reserved judgment in another proposal. Liberal Leader Mackenzie King attacked one clause of the Insurance bill which conferred power on the commission to fine and disqualify employers for "disregarding its regulations." Many opposition members protested granting power to an unnamed commission to establish a second criminal code without sanction of parliament, would allow the clause to stand, pending further consideration.

The sliding scale of premiums was suggested by the northern Ontario member to be applied to workmen who paid into the fund for years and never drew compensation. Under his proposal a man who paid in steadily for five years would have his contributions cut 20 per cent a year until a minimum of five cents a week was reached.

Sir George Perley agreed with Humphrey Mitchell (Lab., Hamilton East) it was impossible to say any class of workmen would have steady work over a period of years. The Laborite referred to stonecutters whose jobs had been abolished by machines.

A long discussion took place on a clause giving the insured employee a right to sue an employer who failed to make contributions under the act and recover from him the amount of benefit he had been deprived of.

Silver Jubilee Fund

Contributions Received From Persons Which Means Great Sacrifice

Ottawa.—The King George V. silver jubilee cancer fund management noted receipt of contributions from many persons for whom donations meant "not only hardship but actual sacrifice." It said such conditions were revealed by correspondence enclosed with subscriptions received and acknowledged by the Countess of Beasborough.

One Montreal woman wrote: "I am not complaining, but my husband has not earned one cent for three winters; but such as I have I share for a great purpose and with a good heart."

Her Excellency received from a Toronto house for the aged $1 and a note saying it was "from two Englishwomen over 70 years old."

Sees Improvement

Eastern Man Finds Outlook In Prairie Provinces Perceptibly Better

Montreal.—"Distinct improvement in the western economic outlook was reported by W. McL. Clarke, secretary of the Canadian Chamber of Commerce, on his return from a visit to British Columbia and the prairie provinces."

"The outlook is in general perceptibly better than a year ago," he stated. The round position of many of the urban and rural communities all through the west impressed him, he said.

Expansion Of Radio

No Definite Decision Has Been Reached At Ottawa

Ottawa.—No definite decision has been reached as to an expansion of the facilities of the Canadian Radio Commission. Hon. Alfred Durneau, minister of marine, told the House of Commons.

Hon. W. D. Euler (Lib., Waterloo North) said he had heard reports the commission proposed to spend $1,000,000 on the acquisition of new stations. Mr. Durneau said he knew the commission had some scheme in mind but nothing definite had been decided regarding expansion.

LONDON'S SAFETY BEACONS INTRIGUE BAMBINO

The safety traffic beacons, which have been installed throughout London to aid pedestrians crossing busy thoroughfares, have proved a great attraction for Babe Ruth when he arrived there recently. Here we see the "king" of baseball with his wife and daughter "sizing up" one of these Belshazzar monsters.

Group-Captain Frederick Sowrey, who, as a R.F.C. pilot, in 1916, brought down the Zeppelin L.32 in flames at Bullerby, Essex, has been appointed to command the R.A.F. Middle East depot at Aboukir. He previously commanded the No. 3 armament training camp at Wisbech.

Foster Tourist Trade

Ottawa Members Discuss Possibilities Of Development

Ottawa. Members had a field day in the House of Commons extolling the tourist attractions of Canada as a whole and their own parts of the country in particular. In their enthusiasm they could not find time in the three-hour session to pass a vote of $200,000 to be used to foster Canada's inter-provincial and international tourist trade.

Railway Minister R. J. Manion sponsored the $200,000 vote, an increase of $100,000 over last year. He listened to all sorts of suggestions on how to attract more tourists: national highways built and maintained by the Dominion, extending across the country; a campaign in the United States to convince Americans that Canadians are not Indians or Eskimos; cheap week-end tickets on the railways; passes on Canadian railways for American senators and congressmen so they could discover something about the country, and right down the line to courteous customs inspectors and hotel keepers.

The only opposition to the vote was when several members claimed it was too small, one suggested it be increased over the years to $200,000. The vote will be discussed another day.

Mr. Manion said that in 1929, $300,000,000 was estimated as the value of the country's tourist trade and in 1934, $140,000,000. Canada should have a tourist industry worth $500,000,000 when prosperity returned, the minister said.

Dr. Manion paid tribute to Canadian citizens and a Danish Communist, believed to be under suspicion of authorities of attempting to establish an espionage or terrorist centre in Denmark, were arrested here.

Move Made To Bring Cost Of Canadian Cars More In Line With U. S. Prices

Revolt In Greece

Whole Country Paralyzed With Fear And Misgivings

Ghynchelli, Greek-Yugoslav Frontier.—Despite the announcement of the Athens government that it has the situation in hand and expects soon to crush the revolution, neutral observers in Greece considered the situation highly dangerous.

Marital law prevails throughout Greece. The whole country appears paralyzed with fear and misgivings. Rail, telephone and telegraphic communications are cut off and normal activities are suspended.

While Greece proper apparently was free from military clashes, eastern Macedonia, Epirus and the Greek islands where the followers of former Premier Eleutherios Venizelos dominate, appeared to be in a state of ferment.

Heavy fighting with serious losses on both sides was reported between government troops and rebels in the Struma valley, which during the Great War was a most bitterly contested area between the allies and the central powers.

All telegraph and telephone service has been suspended, not only within Greece but to points abroad. Customs and other places of amusement have been closed. All steamer services to Greek and other islands as well as to Greek ports on the mainland are suspended.

The entire plant and stocks of the Standard Oil Company at Salonika have been seized by the government. Motor trucks, horses and other equipment belonging to foreign companies have been commandeered for war purposes.

Bootleg Butter

Butter Running Across The Border Is Now Alleged

Toronto.—Shades of another day when rum-running trucks scurried into the United States with Canadian liquor have come back. The Mail and Empire in a despatch from their Ottawa correspondent, says it's not rum-running but butter.

Bootleg sales of Canadian butter in the United States, the story says, have so depleted Canadian stores that the heavy surplus that has been troubling the federal department of agriculture has disappeared.

In fact, The Mail story says such quantities have been sold illicitly that a comparative scarcity of Canadian butter is in prospect. There has been a differential of five cents per pound between Montreal and New York butter prices, and, according to The Mail, it is in the eastern townships that most of this new bootlegging has been carried on.

Would Investigate Interest

Wimping.—A royal commission to investigate suburban municipalities' deficits of interest was urged upon the Manitoba government by a deputation of Reeves and councillors. The deputation referred to Ontario government action toward reduction of municipal debts but made no specific recommendations.

Ottawa.—Automobiles for the Canadian purchaser at prices more in keeping with those charged for the same cars in United States may come in the near future, according to reports here that motor car customs rates may be submitted to the tariff board. There has been no official statement covering the situation nor has there been a specific reference to the board but it is known the whole question of production in the motor car industry is being investigated.

According to the best information available the motor car manufacturers have been advised by the government that there was a feeling car prices in Canada were too greatly in excess of the prices of the same cars in United States which are kept out of Canada by a tariff as high as 30 per cent. It is understood the manufacturers were asked to show why there need be such a spread between prices in the two countries.

There have been several delegations of car manufacturers to Finance Minister E. N. Rhodes in the past few weeks as a result of the government's action, and it was learned that a reference would probably be taken to the tariff board.

Robbery Is A Mystery

Big Gold Shipment Removed From Croydon Airport

London.—Scotland Yard had another puzzling case on its hands—how and by whom three boxes containing gold worth £21,000 (£102,000 at par) were stolen from the administration building of the Croydon airport.

No keys were missing and an outside oak door to the strong room was locked, but the inner steel door was open and the boxes gone.

They were difficult to handle on account of their weight, and how they were removed from the administration building and the airport itself without attracting attention of half a dozen officials constantly on duty was a mystery to the investigating detectives.

No fingerprints were found and this was taken to indicate the robbers wore gloves.

Life Insurance Figures

Insurance Written And Paid For In 1934

Ottawa.—During the year 1934 the net amount of life insurance written and paid for in cash in Canada was $396,062,000, an increase of three per cent over the corresponding amount written in 1933.

In making this announcement, the Dominion department of insurance states these are approximate figures compiled from annual statements submitted by the companies.

In 1934 ordinary insurance amounted to $43,098,808, industrial insurance to $144,041,670, and group insurance to $19,931,463. The total net business in force in Canada on Dec. 31, 1934 was $6,220,208,826, or a decrease of 4 per cent under the corresponding amount at the end of 1933.

Impossible To Try To Stabilize Pound Sterling Under Circumstances

London.—Neville Chamberlain, chancellor of the exchequer, told the House of Commons it was impossible to try to stabilize the pound sterling on gold under the present circumstances. At the same time he strongly denied the exchange equalization fund was being used for the purpose of depreciating sterling.

"There is absolutely nothing in the position of the pound which need give Britain a moment's uneasiness," he said. "The pound buys the same amount of goods internally as it did three years ago."

"A downward movement of the pound during the past week in relation to the United States dollar and the French franc had caused considerable speculation in foreign exchange circles."

Chamberlain said he was unchanged in his view that there was no belief in his view that there was no belief in the international standard than gold but he said the government would not take steps to revert to the gold bar.

stagnated until conditions were so favorable that "having reverted, we are pretty certain of our ability to remain on it."

The chancellor of the exchequer said the exchange equalization fund "was never used and never was intended for the purpose of deliberately forcing sterling up or down."

If Great Britain tried to gold and the policies of either the United States or France "forced us to rid ourselves of the gold bar or to put up the bank rate and begin to deflate," Chamberlain continued, "we would be bringing about a serious state of affairs in this country by restricting enterprise and increasing unemployment. I do not believe we are in a position at present to take the risk of putting the pound at the mercy of either the franc or the dollar."

NOTES AND COMMENTS

This weekly whirligig may amuse some and enrage others, though it is not intended to antagonize those with whom we do not see through the same colored glasses. Since a column has to be written to show that we are not "soldiering" on the job, we endeavor to present some comment on events and happenings that may be of general interest.

Romance and drama of life in a small town is often overlooked. City people dismiss the smaller places from their minds as not being of much consequence in the affairs of the nation. Yet, how little do city folks, except a very few, realize the important part rural areas play in the life of the province and the Dominion. People living outside of large centres have time to read and think, to form a more intelligent opinion on vital topics.

Rural areas contribute largely towards the commerce and industry of the cities. Think of this Crow's Nest area with its wealth of coal deposits, and the capital and energy and labor that has been employed in wresting that wealth from the bowels of the earth. Its contribution to Alberta industry amounts to millions of dollars paid in wages. It has been the means of establishing creditable towns enjoying modern conveniences and educational facilities which compare favorably with the large centres. Thirty years ago Coleman was a hamlet, maybe wild and woolly. Surely we have cause to stick out our chests with pride, especially those who laid the foundations of industrial development and developing its community life. A town's progress doesn't just happen, and though its hidden source of wealth was provided by a bountiful Nature, it required men's initiative and courage to develop its use. Surely there is romance and drama even in coal.

In the field of sport justifiable pride arises in reviewing the exploits of Coleman's hockey teams of past and present years. The town figured in Allan Cup games ten years ago. This season again it matches its hockey prowess with the top-notchers of the capital city, bringing a thrill to those who are conscious of pride in their home town.

A good yarn is told of Bill Knight, mayor of Blairmore. When a number of youths took possession of the council chamber and staged a two-day hunger strike, Bill went there and threw them a pocket full of wheat, and told them he would be back in the evening with a bale of hay. Now he has got in wrong with the council who accuse him of painting too rosy a picture of the town's finances, and unanimously decided to advertise for a new auditor. The moderates sit back and say: "Give them enough rope and they'll hang themselves." Doubtless Bill's ideas in local government have been moderated and chastened since he was elected by the "workers."

Radio listeners last Thursday heard a fiery outburst from Senator Huey Long, the "Kingfish of Louisiana." Huey is going to make everyone rich; he will not quibble over billions of dollars to be paid in bonuses to soldiers who never saw the firing line, and judging from his speech he was on an irresponsible rampage. The wild promises of politicians to catch votes of the unthinking make sane people realize how liberty is abused, and how easy it is to fool people with "ballyhoo."

Over in Greece another flare-up has arrested public attention. Since 1917, when King Constantine was forced to leave by the Allies, ten changes of Government have kept people wondering what's coming next. Former Premier Venizelos, a veteran in political life, who since 1910 has held office as Premier ten times, and whose supporters are rallying behind him to overthrow the government of Premier Tsaldaris, with Colonel Plastiras as reputed leader of the revolutionaries, is the central figure. Civil war causes the rest of Europe fearful of what it may lead to, and H. G. Wells, famous British author, arriving recently in New York, states the world is headed for another big war by 1940. Take it for what it is worth, but work for peace.

Norman F. Priestley, managing director of "The United Farmer," counteracts William Aberhart's radio talks on Social Credit by stating that Aberhart's dividend cannot be anything other than the amount which they now pay. In other words, the dividend from unearned increment will be a tax on sales of goods. Mr. Aberhart's statement that $25 was used only as an illustration of what his dividend would be arouses doubts in the minds of many followers, whose brightness of the sky is beclouded by a maze of conflicting economic theories.

Fresh pike from Cowley—that's what "Brick" Bell said they were, as we eyed them on the counter in Leduc's store when dropping in to make up for forgetfulness in not ordering the family groceries by making a hurry-up purchase for the family's noon-day meal. We'd heard of trout from Cowley, but pike—never! Yet "Brick" with perfect assurance as if he knew what he was talking about, said that's where they came from, a man from there having caught them in a lake. They were a good size, much larger than the trout we have caught. Just where that lake might be is what has been worrying us. Thinking it over, some doubt was raised in our mind, and that "Brick" in order to appear informative, had decided Cowley was as good as any other place for pike to come from, and it might so stagger us with surprise that we wouldn't ask any more questions.

It recalled an incident when a lady customer asked an obliging clerk if the eggs on sale were strictly fresh. "Fresh—ladyl! Why, they're so fresh they are dated a week ahead." We're still wondering if those fish came from Cowley, or was "Brick" just having his own little joke. We didn't buy any fish, but went home with a string of pork sausages, pondering if we might locate that lake and have better luck fishing for pike than we've had trying to hook trout.

Advertising is an investment in a business. It is an art that requires thought and study. No other form of advertising is a sure-shot and permanent as a well-written and displayed advertisement on the pages of a newspaper. A message in a newspaper is as permanent as the home, for it lingers in the home long after forms of conveying the message have been forgotten. Handbills are soon destroyed, many are not taken home from the mail. The Journal IS TAKEN HOME and is read by the whole family, and after that many send it away to distant friends or relatives.

GOING AFTER THE "KINGFISH"

"The Pied Pipers" whistling the "abused babies" of the American depression to threatened destruction, is the opinion Gen. Hugh S. Johnson has of Senator Huey Long and his "Share the Wealth Campaign" and the radio priest, Rev. Chas. E. Coughlin.

Commenting editorially on the wordy controversy between General Hugh S. Johnson and Senator Huey Long, the Christian Science Monitor states:

Senator Long's promise of "$5000 a year for everybody," could not be fulfilled by any seizure of wealth in the United States, but only by a twelve-fold increase of national business. "Huey could not distribute wealth that way, but he could distribute such poverty as the world has never seen." And as for the Coughlin plan "to make money out of nothing," he observes: "There is work aplenty for a priest and—it may be—in driving the money changers from the temple, but certainly not in usurping their abandoned tables with another sanctified shell game."

This is not all, but it is enough to illustrate that, politically speaking, the hard-riding cavalryman (General Johnson) has set out with a pikegaff for the Kingfish of Louisiana and something stronger than a butterfly net for the priest of the Shrine of the Little Flower.

Merchants in these Past towns who complain of lack of coal orders should ask themselves to what extent they are using trucks instead of C. P. R. locomotives to bring in their freight.

An Important Message!

Customers Have To Be Bought!

Worth-while things cost money. This means that retailers must part with money in order to get customers. Customers require to be bought just as one's merchandise has to be bought.

Customers are not likely to be obtained apart from seeking them. They must be pursued, and they must be asked to do business with the retailer who wants their custom.

You would think that all this is as plain as is the nose on one's face. But stop! Answer this question: What have some retailers done in the past month—to go no further back—to seek and get new customers? How many non-customers have received invitations to do business with you? How many persons have received communications requesting their custom? How many persons have you informed, in their homes, about your business, your merchandise, your policies? How much money have you spent this past month on the purchase of customers?

Just waiting for customers is the acme of folly. Just relying on the conviction that the public ought to do business with you is folly. Just soothing yourself with the reflections that you are honest, that you give the public a square deal, that your store has a good location, that you price merchandise fairly—these are passive things.

It is action which counts in getting the things which we want. An infant cries. This is its way of making its mother or nurse know that it wants something. Is it fair to a business to be doing nothing in a planned way to get new customers for it?

Advertising by all businesses will make and keep our town a good shopping centre.

RADIO COMMISSION PROPOSES TO INCREASE BROADCASTING HOURS

The Canadian Radio Commission is contemplating a construction programme designed to give complete coverage from coast to coast. If ratified, the programme would mean the erection of new stations or increasing power of existing stations in Nova Scotia, Montreal district, Toronto district to cover Northern Ontario, Saskatchewan and British Columbia. It is understood that the entire scheme involves an expenditure of something less than $1,000,000. Associated with the scheme would be a plan to extend the hours of national broadcasting.

Women Anglers' Competition

Winnipeg Woman Wins Cup On Landing Largest Salmon At Coast.

In competition with women anglers from Canada, United States and the British Isles, Mrs. Esther McMorran, 662 Broadway, Winnipeg, captured the Schwengers' cup for having landed the largest salmon in the annual contest conducted by the Victoria and Saanich Inlet Anglers' Association. Announcement of the award of the trophy to the Winnipeg woman was made by W. J. Halliday, secretary of the association.

The fact the contest extends over an entire year, from March 1 to February 28, makes the possession of the Schwengers' cup more valued by women anglers to whom it is offered for competition. Mrs. McMorran, on a visit to Victoria, landed a 20-pound salmon on a rod and line, in accordance with the association regulations. In addition to the cup for the largest salmon landed unaided by a woman, Mrs. McMorran is also awarded the bronze trophy of the association.

PETER DELIVERED FROM PRISON

Golden text: Prayer was made earnestly of the church unto God for him. Acts 12:5b.
Lesson: Acts 12:1-18.
Devotional reading: Psalm 34:1-8.

Explanations And Comments

James killed; Peter imprisoned, verses 1-4. Herod Agrippa I., grandson of Herod the Great, was now king, and he began at this time to persecute the leaders of the church at Jerusalem. He had James, the brother of John, beheaded, and this deed pleased the Jews, for it was "the days of unleavened bread," as the Passover was called, because no leaven, or yeast, was allowed in Jewish homes while the festival lasted. It was a time when the Jews were especially hostile to those who differed from them, and Herod, as Josephus says of him, "rejoiced in living in good reputation." He sought to kill "their embosom" by his reputation by having Peter imprisoned to await his execution at the close of the Passover. Executions were not carried out during the Passover, as the festival must not be polluted by the shedding of blood, and Herod was nominally a Jew (his grandmother, Mariamne, was a Jewess) and most scrupulous as to all Jewish observances.

Peter Delivered From Prison, verses 5-11. First of all in the record of Peter's escape, we are told that the church was earnestly praying for Peter. Peter was kept in prison, but earnest prayer was made for him. Notice the force of that little word "but." It was the night before his trial and execution as planned by Herod that help came. Peter was not troubled. He was calmly sleeping. The circumstances of his escape are minutely told, the coming of the angel (Goddard, his name), the light in the cell, the chains, the girding and the putting on the sandals and outer cloak, the command to follow, the passing of the first and the second guard, the opening of the iron outer gate of the prison leading into the city, the coming out and passing through the street, and then the being left alone. All this time Peter was dazed and did not know whether he was waking or dreaming, until he "came to himself" at the opening of the iron gate; then he said, "Now I know of a truth, that the Lord has sent his angel and delivered me out of the hand of Herod, and from all the expectation of the people of the Jews."

Soldier Settlers' Union

Largely Attended Conference Recently Held in Edmonton

Col. W. Rodger, Gibbons, was elected president of the Soldier Settlers' Union of Alberta at a conference held in Edmonton recently. Delegates from various sections of the province attended.

Discussion of the request, passed unanimously by all locals for presentation of a private bill for relief of the soldier settlers, featured discussion at the meeting.

The meeting agreed cancellation of all interest charges on soldiers' settlement lands was needed.

Other officers elected were: Vice-president, J. E. Hammond, Westlock; secretary-treasurer, J. E. Orn, Millet.

William Barker, Lacombe; N. Jackson, Brightview, and E. T. Neff, Leduc, were elected to the executive which was formed to work with the central executive at Lloydminster. Major Packman, secretary and R. T. Stewart, vice-president, on the central executive, also attended.

Information about the Soldier Settlers' Union will be gladly furnished by any of the above executive.

The fire prevention expert for the United States Department of Agriculture in a recent address stated that fire loss on farms would be substantially reduced if a ladder were part of the equipment of every farm. A ladder kept in a convenient place makes any roof fire quickly accessible and provides the means for occasional inspection of chimneys and flues.

INFANTS' COLDS

Relieved!

Young children easily catch cold. So Mrs. Russell Ward, of Wood Beach, Ont., wisely says: "If I could I give Baby's Own Tablets and find they are a great help." "Thousands of mothers do the same, not only for colds but for fretfulness, indigestion, constipation, teething troubles, colic, upset stomachs and so on. Baby's Own Tablets are safe and sure in relieving childhood's common ailments."

GET RID OF THE CROWS

(By JACK MINER)

Dear reader, the above is only a flash of the cruel, wicked, murderous ways of the black nest robbers. Fortunately, in those days there were not many crows. Really, I believe there were ten per cent. as many of them as there are to-day. We must not waste time in their increase. This is man's fault. We have gone wrong. We have combined our force with the crows and pointed all our attention at the game birds. Yes, and song birds, too, and left these organized nest robbers to multiply by leaps and bounds.

Thirty years ago no crows wintered in Ontario, but now they are with us the whole year around. In travelling from Windsor to Chatham, Ontario, a distance of less than 50 miles, I firmly believe I have seen over 100,000 crows in less than an hour. There is another reason for their multiplying so rapidly the last 20 years, their worst natural enemy is practically gone, the raven. Forty years ago, ravens were just about as numerous in this country as crows. The raven is nothing but a cowardly, powerful, overgrown crow in habits, only he doesn't migrate. He will search for a crow's nest and rob it of its eggs and young, treating them just the same as the crows treat our song birds. He will also search for other species of lovely, desirable, song and insectivorous birds. The raven is an inhabitant of the more dense woods, but will scour the clearing for food aid, up until the last few years, they fairly thronged in northern Ontario and Quebec.

Between 1885 and 1905, the very height of my sporting ambition was to hunt and usually carried four or five hundred bushy twine snares and when I shot a moose I would bag the meat up, carry it a few rods and cover it with boughs to make it suspicious-looking to the wolves. Then, I would shoulder the head and go to camp. When the party would return the next day to carry out the meat I have often seen as high as a hundred ravens fly up from the running gear of one moose. But now going over the same ground, I can find a single raven for two or three years.

You see, the price of furs started soaring in 1904 and kept right on rising up, up, "Think of it!" Musk skins that sold for $1.00 each now sell for from $15 to 20 dollars. Fisher skins that sold for $3.50 now bring $100. And a great many other furs soared in proportion. The result is that in the last 15 years the woods have been overrun with trappers and although against the law, the majority of them used quantities of strychnine and just as soon as the ice will carry a man, about every lake in northern Ontario, has poison bait or baits upon the ice. Some trappers will shoot deer and moose for no other purpose than to make poison bait of it. By injecting the poison into the meat, while warm, I understand, they make a most deadly kind of bait. Putting bait on the lake gives the trapper the great advantage of finding the fox, wolf, fisher, lynx, or whatever animal takes the least bite of it. You might say why don't such much poison in the woods why don't this reduce the number of wolves? The fact is that the wolves are very shy, and it is only the few experienced trappers that are able to get wolves to take poisoned bait.

In January, 1905, I was with a professional trapper. On going to his bait on a lake we saw that a raven had taken a few pecks of the bait, had flown about 50 yards and died. A fox had eaten part of the raven and lay stretched out within 20 feet of it. There was a fresh fall of snow and as the fox came from the direction we were going, tracked him back for fully one-half mile, and I am absolutely certain he did not get any other bait in that distance. Hence it is plain to see how the high price of furs has all but exterminated the raven. In fact, the crow's only enemy, now, are the fox, the great horned owl and red-tailed hawk, but these three combined aren't one, two, three, with the raven. I have been asked by a great many people "why didn't this poison kill all the wolves?" I can't reply this, let me say, the wolf is the shrewdest animal to poison or trap on earth. So many inexperienced people, carelessly putting out this poison, caused the wolves to be shy of any cold bait they saw. In fact, it is only experienced trappers that know what means. The most experienced trapper gets them taking bait weeks before they put any poison in it.

Before I go further, I want it distinctly understood that apparently all left me. But how can I call myself humane and stand and see those black highway murderers of the air continually robbing the more desirable birds of their eggs and young, and hear the mother screaming and crying, "Help, Help, Help!" How can I be humane and hold myself when I know he is coming back to repeat this cold-blooded, murderous deed. Moreover, I know that if one of these insectivorous or song birds were left to mature, it would do more good in ten minutes than a dirty, old crow would do in a day. Think of all the good descendants of this one insectivorous bird would do had it been allowed to mature and raise young. Oh, but you sigh and say, "Jack Miner, are you sure that you know what you are writing about?" Yes, I am. I have tested it out.

In 1910, I started reforesting near my home, in fact nearly all around my home. I secured the majority of the trees from the Ontario Forestry Department. The fifth year I had one nesting pair of mourning doves and now the doves nest and roost among these trees so thickly that they are actually breaking the limbs apart. During May, June and July, I can take you to at least three hundred occupied doves' nests in that

Menu Fixed By Authorities

German People Have One-Dish Meal

First compulsory "one-dish meal" of the winter was served throughout Germany in all private houses, hotels and restaurants recently in place of the ordinary Sunday dinner. The menu was fixed by the authorities who offered a choice of one of the following dishes, served hot, each in a single pot—split peas and meat, macaroni and beef, mixed vegetables and meat. Storm-troopers called on every home in the country and collected the sums that housewives have saved by their frugality, with a minimum of twelve cents a head. Last winter over $800,000 was collected by the Nazi Winter Relief Campaign, of which the monthly one-dish meal is a feature.
